It will be remembered that during the past season the discovery was announced that 5-20 and 7-30 bonds to the extent of several millions had been counterfeited, and although sharp detectives were at once put upon the scent of the counterfeiters, they have escaped until now. A few days since they discovered signs which led them to think that Wm. Spencer and wife of Paulsboro, New Jersey, knew more than they ought to of the business .-While at work in looking up the case the detectives found a quantity of the counterfeit bonds and notes; they immediately went to work to fasten the guilt upon Spencer and wife, and in doing so unearthed the fact that five other persons were confederate with them. Spencer and wife were arrested at the St. James Hotel, New York. Friday, Nov. 15, on the eve of starting for Europe. Bail of $40,000 was asked for their appearance at examinfollowing week, which was ation the readily produced, the woman having that sum upon her own person. The spurious issues were made from a lead impression of the genuine plates, obtained in Washington by a confederate. All the rogues have become very rich and so of course when the day comes they can manage to cheat justice of at least half her due. When Spencer was arrested he did not appear in the least disconcerted, showed not the smallest sign of guilt or fear, acting the polished and cultivated gentleman to perfection. The other five are not yet arrested.

A terrible calamity occurred on the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton, Ohio, lost, but the number was large, and many of them died in the most shockhave been considerably over a hundred cars all jammed i. together. It appears that a train ran into another from behind while the forward one was standing still; shortly afterward another train ran into it from before, setting it on fire, wedging many of the passengers in so there was no escape. The accidents occurred in the night. One gentleman from Quebec, Charles Jackson, was in one of the cars and escaped alive, but when he saw the hands of many sufferers and the heads of others projecting from the windows, the year 1800 there were only 38 with the steam scalding them he contrived to work back into the car with the design of saving them, but he became so choked with smoke and steam 250 individuals. that he fell and died with the rest .-Such heroism deserves to be remembered.

History of Glover.

FIRST PAPER. The town of Glover, Orleans County, Vermont, is a well watered and productive section of country; and affords to the lover of nature a great variety of beautiful scenery, woodland, hill, and dale, with here and there a clear streamlet or larger body of water. It embraces 36 square miles, is situated 33 miles northeast from Montpelier, and is bounded north by Barton, east by Sheffield, south by Greensboro and west by Albany.

In this town the Barton river has its rise, and within its limits are found branches of the Passumpsic, Lamoille and Black rivers.

The ponds-such as Stone's, Parker's, and one or two others perhapswould in some counties where the like so numerous, be honored with Glover derives its name from Gen John Glover, who resided in his early childhood and previous to his death in Marblehead, Mass. His birthplace was Salem, Mass., a town (now city adjoining. He was the son of Jona than and Tabitha B. Glover, was born in 1732 and died in 1797, aged 65 years. His military office was that of Brigadier General and he served under Gen. Washington in the war o the revolution. He went first as private in the volunteer service, enlisted n Marblehead, and passed through all the grades of military office up t the above mentioned, all of which b discharged with honor and distinct tion. He was held in high esteem ! his commander and chief and by all other officers civil and military, and by all ranks of men with whom he came in contact. He had the hono of conducting Burgovne's army afte the defeat of that proud general, thro the states, and to Boston and Charleston. He has been honored by his de-

We this week commence to "send the Standard to many persons who are not now subscribers to it. We send it to them in the hope that they may become subscribers after looking over and reading it a few weeks. We intend to send it to them four weeks without charge, and if at the end of that time they do not see fit to take it they can return the paper to us re fused. To do so will cost them nothing. Therefore if these persons receive the paper four weeks free think they can have no just cause for complaint. If the paper is not returned as soon as the four weeks out we shall take it for granted that they wish it continued, and we shall continue it, only charging from the first of January next. We do because we wish to secure new and good paving subscribers, and we regard it the quickest and cheapest way of getting them. It costs heavily to nire an agent to canvass the countynot less than $3.00 a day-which we cannot afford to pay. We are aware that many who thus receive the paper will grumble and call it a trick on our part to get them to take it. Not so.
